MOONSHINE, ALLEGED CAUSE OF MAN CUTTING HIS WIFE

TWO KILLED AND ANOTHER INJURED

Accident Occurs at Cheeseman Crossing, Near Canonsburg, When An Interurban Car And Automobile Collide Last Night

ANY ESCAPING MARVELOUS

Anthony Moore, Who Was Driving the Car, Is Almost Instantly Killed—Mrs. Riley And Brother Are Rushed To Hospital, But the Lady Died

Two persons were killed and another badly injured when an interurban car on the Pittsburgh and Washington street car line crashed into an automobile at the Cheeseman crossing, about two miles northeast of Canonsburg at 6 o'clock last night.

THE DEAD

Anthony Moore, aged 24, of Mt. Blaine, formerly of Pine Grove, W. Va., lived only few minutes.

Mrs. Frank Riley, aged 20, of Pine Grove, W. Va., died in Canonsburg hospital at 9:30 o'clock.

Francis Moore, a brother of the dead man and woman, is in the Canonsburg hospital suffering from serious hurts. He may recover.

Crashing fairly into the automobile as it came onto the track out of a wooded section, the large interurban car carried the trailer along the tracks for some distance, completely demolishing it. That any of the occupants escaped is considered remarkable.

Anthony Moore, who was almost instantly killed, was driving the car. The Moore brothers and their sister had been in Canonsburg, it is thought, and were returning to their home on the Rev. A. B. Brown farm at Mt. Blaine.

Mrs. Riley and her brother were rushed to the Canonsburg hospital. The young woman never regained consciousness and her death was believed due to an internal hemorrhage. She was fatally bruised about one body.

In the employ of the Philadelphia Gas company, the Moore brothers moved to the Brown farm at Mt. Blaine last February and had been residing there since. Their sister had been living with them and keeping their house. Her husband is employed by the Philadelphia company at Pine Grove, W. Va.

While arrangements for the funeral will not be made until his arrival, it is not likely that services will be held at the home of the young men.

CHARLES C. LONG

TO LECTURE HERE

On Thursday evening, October 21, in the Charleroi High School auditorium, under the auspices of the Monongahela Valley Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, an illustrated lecture, entitled "Washington: Our National Shrine," will be given by Charles Colfax Long of Washington, D. C.

This lecture, which is patriotic as well as educational, is one of the best on the platform today and comes highly recommended, and it is the desire of those who are sponsoring the same that a large audience greet the speaker, when he appears. The lecture will be of special interest to all and especially the student body of our schools as it is an incentive to good citizenship and appreciation of our country.

The lecture will be preceded by a concert given by the High School orchestra under the direction of Prof. A. E. Braman.

but that the bodies will be shipped to Pine Grove, which is in Wetzel county, W. Va.

The street car which crashed into the Moore automobile was in charge of Motorman Morris Sorg and Conductor Al Gregor, both of Pittsburgh. The interurban coach was undamaged except for the shattering of the windshield glass in the front of it.

Messages To Be Sent By The Telephone

The Western Union Telegraph company of this place is planning within two or three months to replace its telegraph operator with the competent telephone operator, whose duties will be to receive and deliver all messages by telephone to Pittsburgh.

This new system has recently been installed in Monessen, and is in effect at Homestead and Monongahela and is to be installed in McKeesport, Brownsville and Charleroi. All telegraph messages left at the office of Collins and Moody Real Estate company, where the local telegraph company occupies space, will be transmitted by telephone to Pittsburgh, and from that point will be sent by telegraph, probably to some larger city and again telephoned to their destination.

The cost of sending a telegram will remain the same, after the new system is installed.

CLEANUP IS UNDER WAY

Chief of Police John C. Wall has started a general cleanup in Uniontown against all law violators in general and against reckless auto drivers and street walkers in particular.

Chief Wall informed his officers that the drive would start immediately, and that he expected a number of arrests. He assured the minions of Uniontown that the mayor of the county seat of Fayette county would extend no leniency to the offenders. Persons who violate the state regulations in the operation of motor vehicles will be punished with fines ranging from $50 to $200 for the first offense and with prison sentences in cases of second offenses.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Scores of policemen today patrolled the Maxwell Street district to prevent possible race rioting following the killing last night of a negro by a mob of whites.

William Lucas, aged about 38 years, a miner, who had been drunk the time of the committing of the deed, attacked his wife, aged 32 years, with a knife in a field about one mile south of Bentleyville at 7:30 o'clock last night, and from the injuries which Mrs. Lucas received, her life hangs in the balance in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela, whether she was taken after being arrested first and at the hands of a Bentleyville physician, Dr. R. E. Cummings. Lucas escaped and has not been captured.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas reside at Cokeburg Junction, where Mr. Lucas, it is said, has been employed at the Acme mine. He was in his cups yesterday, it is said, and after partaking of his supper, he left the house, ostensibly for more moonshine. Mrs. Lucas followed her husband and endeavored to have him return to their home, and in information he attacked her with a knife. The woman was severely cut in practically every portion of her anatomy. She was taken first to House No. 15, where Dr. Cummings, Chief of Police H. B. Lake, and Burgess I. N. South were called, later she was removed to her home, House No. 47, and her condition warranting it, she was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. The condition of Mrs. Lucas is said to be precarious in the extreme this morning, with her chances for recovery doubtful.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas are the parents of four children, the oldest of whom is a boy eleven years old.

The attorney said the books had been in Richmond, Virginia, because of the litigation, and are enroute to New York today. They should be in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the court ordered all other records of the court be thrown open to Gillespie.

Churches Are To Observe Armistice Day

Washington, October 9.—Thousands of churches will take part in the observance of Armistice Day, November 11 as a "mobilization for world justice and world peace," proposed by the Federal Council of Churches, according to church officials. The plan, which was announced a few days ago, has met with widespread approval, they declared.

"Pastors all over the land have signified their intention of cooperating," said Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, secretary of the Federal Council's Commission on International Justice and Goodwill. "Entire communities will take part. City church federations are making their plans. A Sixth Call to the Churches of the United States" will be issued. It is entitled "The Churches Mobilizing for World Justice and World Peace" and will go to thousands of pastors throughout the country. This document will furnish suggestive material for use by local churches in connection with Armistice Day observance and subsequent educational campaigns."

SINGERS MAY GO TO WALES

Wilkes-Barre, October 9.—A campaign is under way here to have the Orpheus Glee Club, which has taken first prize in its class in all the custodians held in the United States and Canada the past few years, participate in the Welsh National Eisteddfod to be held in Wales in 1925.

A former resident of Wilkes-Barre, has written to Gwilym Amos, director of the organization, which has 80 voices, strongly urging the trip and pledging $500. Local friends have already pledged $1,100 additional, although the club has taken no action as yet. It would cost around $40,000 to make the trip, Amos said.

The "Druid," an English publication serving the Welsh people in the United States, has offered to back the campaign, making it national in scope. The club is one of the best known singing societies in the United States.

Donora Boy Shoots A Man Who Is Abusing His Mother

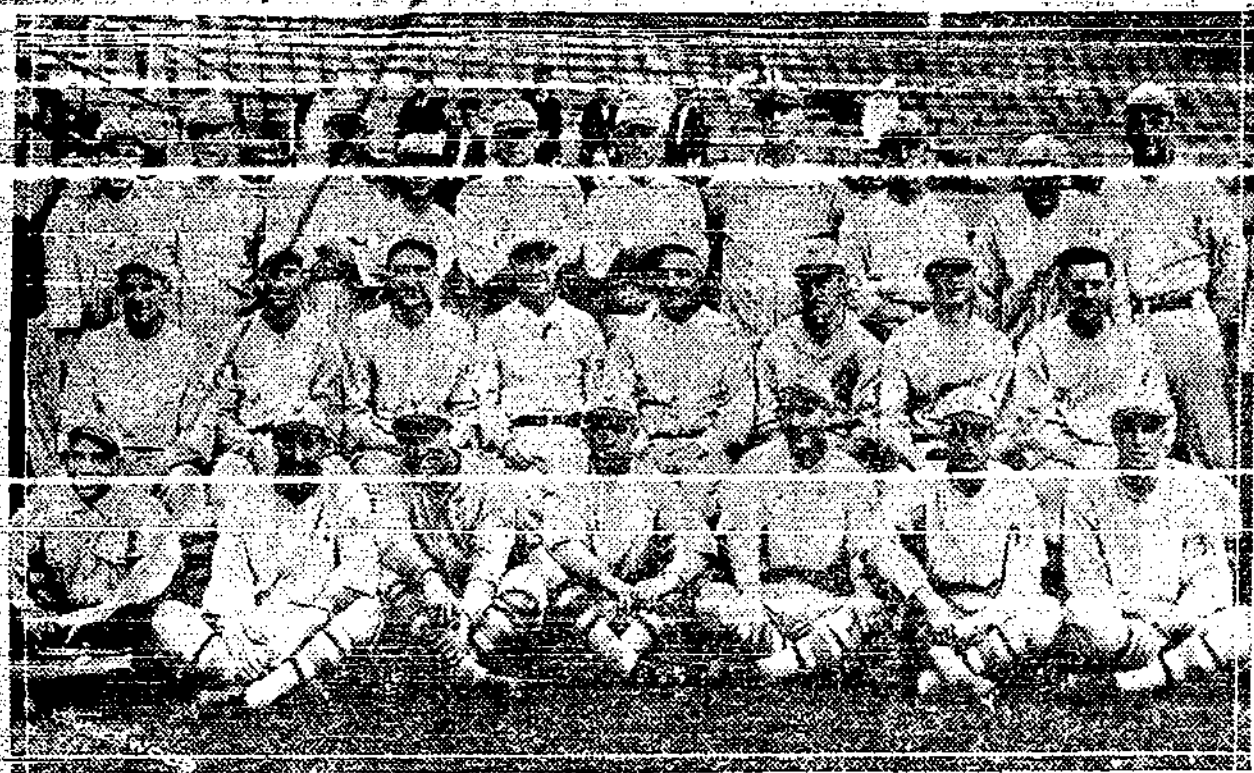

Edward Harkins, aged 23, colored, to a nearby alley. Miller called to Harkins to stop and failure to comply brought a shot from the boy's weapon. Harkins struck in the thigh, fell thigh, and Charles Miller, aged 15, to the ground and police who were son of Mrs. Mary Miller, also colored, then on their way to the Miller home of 544 Meldon avenue, is being held to arrest Harkins, took both him and by the Donora police for the shooting, the boy into custody.

The shooting occurred Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock. Harkins was in Monongahela, following Harkins' visit to Mrs. Miller's home, when it is alleged he abused her. Mrs. Miller is a crippled woman. Following an attack on Mrs. Miller, she went to the police station, after the man left, and requested that he be arrested. Returning to her home, she had only been there a short time when Harkins returned and became abusive. The son took up the matter and following an altercation with the man, he left and was followed by the man.

Over Confidence Is The Shadow That Is Hovering Over The Heads Of Charleroi High School Foot Ball Team

Last night's scrimmage session brought out very plainly the fact that there is great danger of over-confidence on the Charleroi squad concerning Saturday's game with Rochester. This is the one element that Coach Stepanian has to contend with as long as the team is winning. There were certain members of the squad last evening that acted very much like third-grade pupils let out for recess. This over-confidence went a long way toward our defeat in the Donora game last year but will probably show its results long before that game this season.

It is to be admitted that the team has played good football in the early games, but there is still big room for improvement. Veteran linemen are playing high, halfbacks are not clipping, and tackling at times has been pathetic. If Charleroi is to lose any games this season let it be because they lost to a better team. Charleroi last season was two touchdowns better than Donora, but over-confidence stepped in and the result is still fresh in the memories of local fandom.

It will be interesting this week to watch "Doc" Shephard. Stuck, center, and captain of the Rochester team, is a cousin of Shephard's. Both are anxious to come out on the winning end. Shephard is one of the fastest men on the squad and as a fighter cannot be surpassed.

McKay at end has been displaying wonderful form this week and has won the coach's favor. He has been out for the team for three years and knows a lot of foot-ball. Loughhead is also showing up well and will undoubtedly see service on Saturday. Sampson is improving daily and shows promise of developing into a dependable backfield man.

The scrubs using Rochester's formations tore big holes in the first string line at practice yesterday. The Rochester team has been working hard and their coaches are perfecting a defense for Charleroi's running attack. Saturday's game should be a hard fought battle between two evenly matched teams.

DEMARCO TO MEET ALEX SIMMS AT STEUBENVILLE

Cuddy DeMarco, Charleroi's clever fighter, was signed up yesterday for the opening show at Steubenville, O., on Monday, October 20. He will meet Alex Simms of Canton, O. Mike McKinney, the old-time and well-known promoter, who formerly staged Canton's big shows in the Auditorium there, is matchmaker for the Knights of Columbus and American Legion of Steubenville, and these organizations are promoting the show set for October 20. McKinney is the man who gave Jack Britten the chance to win the welterweight title from Ted Lewis in a 20-round fight at Canton. He also booked Harry Gibb, the middleweight titleholder, to appear in Canton twice, Harry meeting Battling Levinsky and George (K. O.) Brown in these two fights and making a big hit in each of them.

Simms, whom DeMarco meets at Steubenville, is said to be the most promising fighter of his weight developed in that part of Ohio in a long time. In landing McKinney to do their matchmaking the K. of C. and the American Legion certainly struck it right in the opinion of many boxing followers hereabouts. Canton parties are after McKinney to move back there and stage the shows for the coming winter but McKinney likes Steubenville, and will likely remain there.

WAYNESBURG MEETS THE BROADDUS TEAM TOMORROW

Waynesburg, Oct. 9.—The undefeated Waynesburg College eleven will play their first game on the home field next Friday afternoon when Broadus will be met at College field. The initial kickoff is set for 2:30 and the largest opening day crowd that ever thronged College field is expected to be on hand to watch the Yellow Jackets display their prowess against the West Virginians. Several tiers of bleachers have been erected to accommodate the fans who are expected to gather here Friday from all parts of Greene county and from adjoining counties. Besides solid rows of bleachers on each side of the field and a grandstand seating 1,500 persons, sideline benches have been installed on each side of the field and at least 3,500 people can now be accommodated with ease.

The Broadus game was originally scheduled for Saturday, but upon request of the Broadus management the game was moved back one day in order that the visiting team might witness the West Virginia-Pitt game on Saturday. The plan was readily agreed to by Graduate Manager Clyde M. Call as it is believed a much larger crowd will be drawn on Friday when there are no counter-attractions in this district and besides it will give Waynesburg business men an opportunity to see their favorites in action.

BOXING BOUTS AT McKEESPORT ARE PROMISING

The card for the Majestic club's fist show this evening at the Paladium rink, McKeesport, which offers an all-welterweight program for the delectation of the fans, promises to be one of the most satisfying of the season. Johnny King of Fayette City and Bert Schneider of Montreal will make 140 pounds at 8 o'clock this afternoon for their main bout of 10 rounds. The semi-finalists—Young Penno of McKees Rocks and Walter Dickerson of Fayette City—will make 143 pounds at the same hour.

The second number, arranged Tuesday, brings together Johnny Wolcott of Pittsburgh and Mike Fedorsick of McKees Rocks, and in the opener Young Chester of Monessen and Mike Terris, West Newton, 145-pounders, will oppose each other. The card is a good one throughout and the show is expected to attract a banner turnout of fans.

New York Is Winner In The First Game

They scourged the prince of pitchers yesterday. Walter Johnson stood on a little hill deep in the shadow of the big grandstand on the Polo grounds and watched the hits fly by. It was 18 years that Walter waited for his chance in the big test. That is too long. The weariness of the game he lost in Washington was still in his shoulders as he walked, swinging like an old pacing horse, into the center of the diamond. Before he pitched a ball you could see that he was tired. He had no joy of his rendezvous. He trudged out slowly, saving himself in this little journey. The 45,000 were behind him. One and all they longed to see Johnson win. Only the Giants were against him, but they happened to be the precise persons to whom he had to pitch. Pitching is a lonely job. Even not hold up his right arm. Good will rumbled out to him from the surrounding army, but all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Walter together again. The struggle reverts to Washington today, where the Senators are up against the wall—for victory for the Giants means World's champions and the last phantasma of their vanished dream.

The score by innings yesterday: Washington . . . 0 0 1 0 0 1 0—2 New York . . . 0 0 1 0 2 0 0 3—6 Earned runs—Washington 2, New York 5.

Two base hit—Frisch. Three base hit—Terry. Home runs—Bentley, Goslin. Double plays—Bluege to Harris to Judge; Rice to Johnson to Ruel. First base on balls—Off Bentley 3 (Ruel 2, McNeely); off McQuillan 1 (Tate); off Johnson 2 (Terry 2). First base on error—New York 1. Hit with pitched ball—By Johnson 1 (Young.) Sacrifice bunts—Bluege, Wilson. Sacrifice fly—Jackson. Left on bases—Washington 9, New York 8. Hits—Off Bentley, 9 hits and 2 earned runs in 7 1-3 innings; off McQuillan, none in 1 2-3 innings. Struck out—By Johnson 3 (Gowdy, Kelly, Wilson); by Bentley 4 (Harris, Rice, Goslin, Bluege); by McQuillan 1 (McNeely). Willing pitcher—Bentley. Time of game—2:30. Umpires—Connelly (at plate); Klem (at first); Dineen (at second) and Quigley (at third).

Age of Alligators
The Department of Agriculture says that the age of an alligator can only be determined by one who has had experience with these reptiles. Alligators grow very slowly and it is estimated that at fifteen years of age they are only two feet long; therefore a 15-foot alligator may reasonably be presumed to be seventy-five years of age. The rate of growth varies with animals in their wild state and those kept in captivity, and it is also governed by the amount as well as the type of food given.

Wonderful George!
They were on their honeymoon and she regarded him as the most wonderful being in the whole world. They strolled along the seashore. Suddenly he stopped and in a fine poetic frenzy declaimed: "Roll on thou mighty ocean, roll!" "Oh, look, George!" she cried in ecstasy. "It's doing it!"

HARRY FAY GETS DRAW IN MILL WITH REDDICK

After 12 rounds of hectic battling in the Atlanta, Ga., auditorium Tuesday night, Harry Fay, formerly of Charleroi and Pittsburgh, and now of Louisville, and Jack Reddick of Canton, Ohio, drew the referee's decision as a draw, although many of the ringsiders were of the opinion that Fay should have been given at least a shade.

Fay was the favorite when the men entered the ring, and during the encounter the fans pulled hard for him to knock out the Canadian. Manager Jones has been offered a date at Atlanta club for Fay to meet Young Stribling in the near future.

Fable of the Four Men

"I got off a street car this morning," said a doctor, "and being in no hurry I began moralizing on the actions and probable character of three men who had alighted just ahead of me. The first one was even then halfway down the block and was going on with such rapid strides that he had already put a couple of hundred yards between himself and the next man. 'There,' thought I, 'goes a hustler—a man who's bound to succeed in life.' The second man was walking rather slowly and impressed me as one who would do fairly well, perhaps, in this world. But the last fellow was just dawdling along in the most shiftless sort of way. I very quickly set him down as a loafer."

"Just then another idea came home to me. All three were ahead of me!" —Pathfinder Magazine.

Turf Natural Filter

France's experiments with natural turf have shown that it is an excellent material from which to form beds for the filtering of sewage. A volume of between three and four cubic meters of sewage can be purified every day for every square meter of the surface of the turf. An experimental turf filter that has been in use for more than seven months shows disposition of efficiency. If a larger proportion of sewage than that mentioned is employed the filter proves less effective, but it recovers its power when the amount of sewage is reduced to the proper proportion. Chemical analysis and the effects upon fish put into the filtered water unite in testifying to the efficiency of the process.

Moslem Fast of Ramadan

In the Moslem world Passion Sunday corresponds with the first day of the month-long fast of Ramadan. During Ramadan, western customs, where they have been adopted, are set aside, and the more primitive native manners revived. The muezzin supplements his usual announcement of the hour of prayer with the exhortation: "Give food, O ye faithful, unto the orphan and the poor, the wayfarer and the bondman," and though the wealthy do not now, as in former days, stand at their doors and invite the needy to a well-laden table, Ramadan remains a time of peace, charity and hospitality.

Compound Interest

We often hear that Peter Minuet in 1624 paid the Indians only $24 for Manhattan Island. We are apt to think of this as a ridiculously small sum for what is today the most valuable piece of land of its size in the world; but we do not stop to think that if this original $24 had been invested by Peter Minuet at the rate of 7 per cent per annum and compounded every six months to date, it would have earned a sum equivalent to the assessed value of the entire city of New York, so it is said, including its streets, sewers, railways, subways, theaters, hotels, skyscrapers and palatial homes.—Thrill Magazine.

Marriage in Papua

In western Papua marriage ceremonies and rites are as wild as the people. A man may buy a wife with pigs, but he prefers to steal her or carry her off by raiding other villages. Then, amidst the abominable mud flats, she is given an abode wherein to dwell. Hubby would never dream of living with his wife and children. He prefers to live in the vast clubhouse, called a ravis, which is set apart exclusively for married men.

Fog Buoy Mechanism

Hairs from Chinese queues are stretched across a wooden frame in the mechanism of a fog buoy. The fog rolling in on the coast expands the strands of hair. This elongation of the hairs is sufficient to set in operation automatic fog bells, sirens and whistles, warning vessels off the rocks. When the fog recedes, the hair strands dry out, contract and close the valve, shutting off the signals.

"Theistic Scientist"

A "theistic scientist" would, by definition, be a scientist who is a theist, or believer in God, a god or gods. What his particular form of belief might be depends upon his individuality. Perhaps no two people in the world hold exactly the same religious beliefs, though they may subscribe to the same creeds.

No Peddlers

The house-visiting person in Australia sometimes gets unexpected rebuffs. A zealous curate doing the Alexandria (Sydney) rounds had his knock answered by a nipper of six or eight. "Mother is suited with a clergyman, thank you," she said, and shut the door.—Bulletin (Sydney)

Fair Enough

Rents were exceedingly high in that part of the city in which the young couple felt they had to live. After looking at apartment after apartment they began to get discouraged.

At length, after looking at one that just suited them, they expressed indignation when the agent told them the rent would be $150 a month.

"I can't ask less, because of the view," the agent said.

"Well, I'll tell you what we'll do," the young husband replied, "You knock off $50 a month and we'll sign a contract never to look at the view."

Circles Around Moon

Circles around the moon are caused by moisture in the atmosphere. It frequently happens that the sunlight reflected from the moon to the earth is so refracted by the atmospheric moisture that a ring or circle is formed. The more moisture there is in the atmosphere the smaller the circle will appear. The form and size of the ring will depend entirely upon the particular condition and quantity of moisture in the air.

Today and Yesterday

FEW youngsters to-day ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, radios, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavery. They bring late improvements within your reach.

HAS NAUGHT TO OFFER

That the third party movement, headed by LaFollette, has not made any progress during the past two weeks is due, no doubt, to the fact that the voters of the country have awakened to the fact that the third party has nothing to offer the people of the nation except the beginning of the destruction of all that the citizens of the country hold dear. There is no doubt that those who love their country will this year cast a record vote.

chance the settling of this most important question. They are not going to take for granted that the other fellow is going to vote; they are going to vote themselves. They are going to put down once and for all a movement that would ultimately lead to a condition similar to that existing in Russia today, for there is a marked resemblance between the Soviet government and the things that the Socialist ticket party candidate stands for. It is believed by many that LaFollette is being given moral, if not other aid, by Trotsky and his followers. The women of the United States will never vote for a condition where a husband may secure a divorce for the trifling sum of three rubles and no cause. This strikes at the women and children of the country. Christian people don't live that way, neither do the men of the nation believe in that kind of government. A brief analysis of the third party platform discloses the fact that it would take away from the people their protection in the courts. It would buy public ownership of railroads, which would mean over 3,000,000 additional office holders, the salaries of which the people of the country would have to pay in the shape of greatly increased taxes. That would be but the beginning of a material increase in the tax burden. Calvin Coolidge has already lessened taxes and he will further lessen them.

There is no doubt that thousands of patriotic Democrats will recognize the fact that it is impossible for Mr. Davis to win—vote for Calvin Coolidge because they place the good of their country above party.

If the citizens of the United States will stop and contrast conditions in this and other countries, they will recognize the fact that the United States is the most prosperous nation in the world today. In savings banks alone there is on deposit $18,000,000,000. Somebody must have received good prices for their labor or their products. A recent statement by the American Automobile Association showed that in the first six months of 1924 there were 15,552,077 automobiles registered in the United States. This is an increase of 20% over the corresponding period of a year ago, and when one takes into consideration that there are only about 110,000,000 people in the United States, this fact alone indicates that there has been prosperity somewhere in our great land.

The voters of the country have at last awakened to the danger that confronts this nation. They realize that those in charge of the third party movement are encouraged and aided by the teachings of Trotsky and other individuals who seem to have a mania for destroying, now building. If the individuals who are not content to live in this, a country where every child has an opportunity to secure an education, every father has a chance to earn for his loved ones a good livelihood; where every mother has an opportunity to escape the everlasting toil and other things not mentionable that exist in Russia today, there is no land where the Soviet government exists.

An examination of the personal records of some of those who are loudest in their demands for the success of the third party Socialist ticket, will undoubtedly disclose the fact that they are in direct communication with the Soviet regime and also with the various foreign governments of the world.

That the third party movement, headed by LaFollette, has not made any progress during the past two weeks is due, no doubt, to the fact that the voters of the country have awakened to the fact that the third party has nothing to offer the people of the nation except the beginning of the destruction of all that the citizens of the country hold dear. DIRIGO.

The Republican answer to all Democratic charges of shortcomings is, "Look at the record." The budget, the protective tariff, the Washington armaments conference, the Dawes plan, and the most drastic economy in administration at Washington are only the high lights in a record of achievement unparalleled in the history of the country. That record cannot be shaken by wordy attacks from Democrats, nor can the people be deprived of full information in regard to it.

So shampoo your hair this new way, and see how much prettier, lighter, fluffier it is after the very first shampoo. Blondex is highly beneficial to both hair and scalp. Contains no injurious dyes or chemicals. Highly recommended for children's hair. Get Blondex today for small cost, and on positive money back guarantee, from all dealers, such as: J. P. Gauls Conceded to Be First Makers of Soap

Made from goat's tallow and beechwood ashes, the earliest forms of soap were used by the ancient inhabitants of Germany to give a reddish color to the hair, according to the records of the historian, Pliny the elder. Although mixed with sand and aqua material, it was not known as a cleansing substance, but was often employed in the treatment of skin troubles.

The Gauls, it is said, introduced it into other parts of the world. Today the yearly production in the United States is estimated to be two and one-half billion pounds. Not until about the Second century of the Christian era was the product used as a cleansing article, it is claimed, and an ancient factory for manufacturing the material unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii still contained a quantity of it in a good state of preservation.

Northern Spain and Marseilles later became the chief centers of the industry and produced large amounts of the Castile variety from olive oil and lye. Earlier accounts of the existence of soap among Asiatic peoples are believed to refer to some kinds of mixtures which were devoted to purposes entirely apart from those of dress or cleansing substances.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Some Preliminaries to His Good Night's Rest

Courtlandt Bleecker, at a dinner on Fifth avenue, was talking about the high prices in Europe since the war. "Yes, they are high sometimes, but most of it is travelers' tales. That reminds me that I heard a good one recently. It was a tale about Ceylon. An American had just arrived at a Colombo hotel and the chambermaid said to him, as she put his bedroom in order: 'Have you asked at the office for your frog, sir?' 'My frog?' gasped the American, 'what do you mean?' 'The frog to kill your cockroaches, sir. Make them give you a young, lean, muscular frog, a good jumper; one that will clean out the cockroaches thoroughly. Then, afterward, when the cockroaches are all gone, you must go down to the office again and get your snake.' 'Snake? Holy Moses! Why a snake?' 'A snake to eat the frog, sir!' replied the maid. 'And then, as soon as the frog is eaten, you must get out of bed and kill the snake with a club; after that you'll be sure of a good night's rest.'"

Example of the Bee

It is very important to remember, says John Burroughs, the great naturalist, that the bee does not get honey from the flowers, it makes honey from what it gets from the flowers. What it gets from the flowers is nothing but sweetened water. The bee gets its sweet water, retires, thinks it over and by a private process makes its honey. So many nature writers fail to profit by the example of the bee. They go into the woods and come out again and write about their experience—but they don't give us honey. They don't retine and subject what they find in the woods to a private process. They give us just a little sweet water, pretty thoroughly diluted. I have tried for many years not to give the world just a bare record, but to flavor it with my own personality.

Duck's Use of Wings

Do ducks use their wings while swimming under water? The question is discussed frequently among sportsmen and nature students, and opinions sometimes differ. Testimony of reliable authorities, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, supports the belief that various species of ducks and grebes, loons and other diving birds do not use their wings when swimming beneath the surface for food or in trying to escape capture. A ruddy duck was observed on Lake Michigan not long ago, feeding in fifteen or twenty feet of clear water. As it got well started on its downward plunge, the wings, about two thirds extended, were used in quick, short strokes, at the rate of about one a second, to assist in propelling it and in rising to the top, as well.

Bowls Were Not Alike

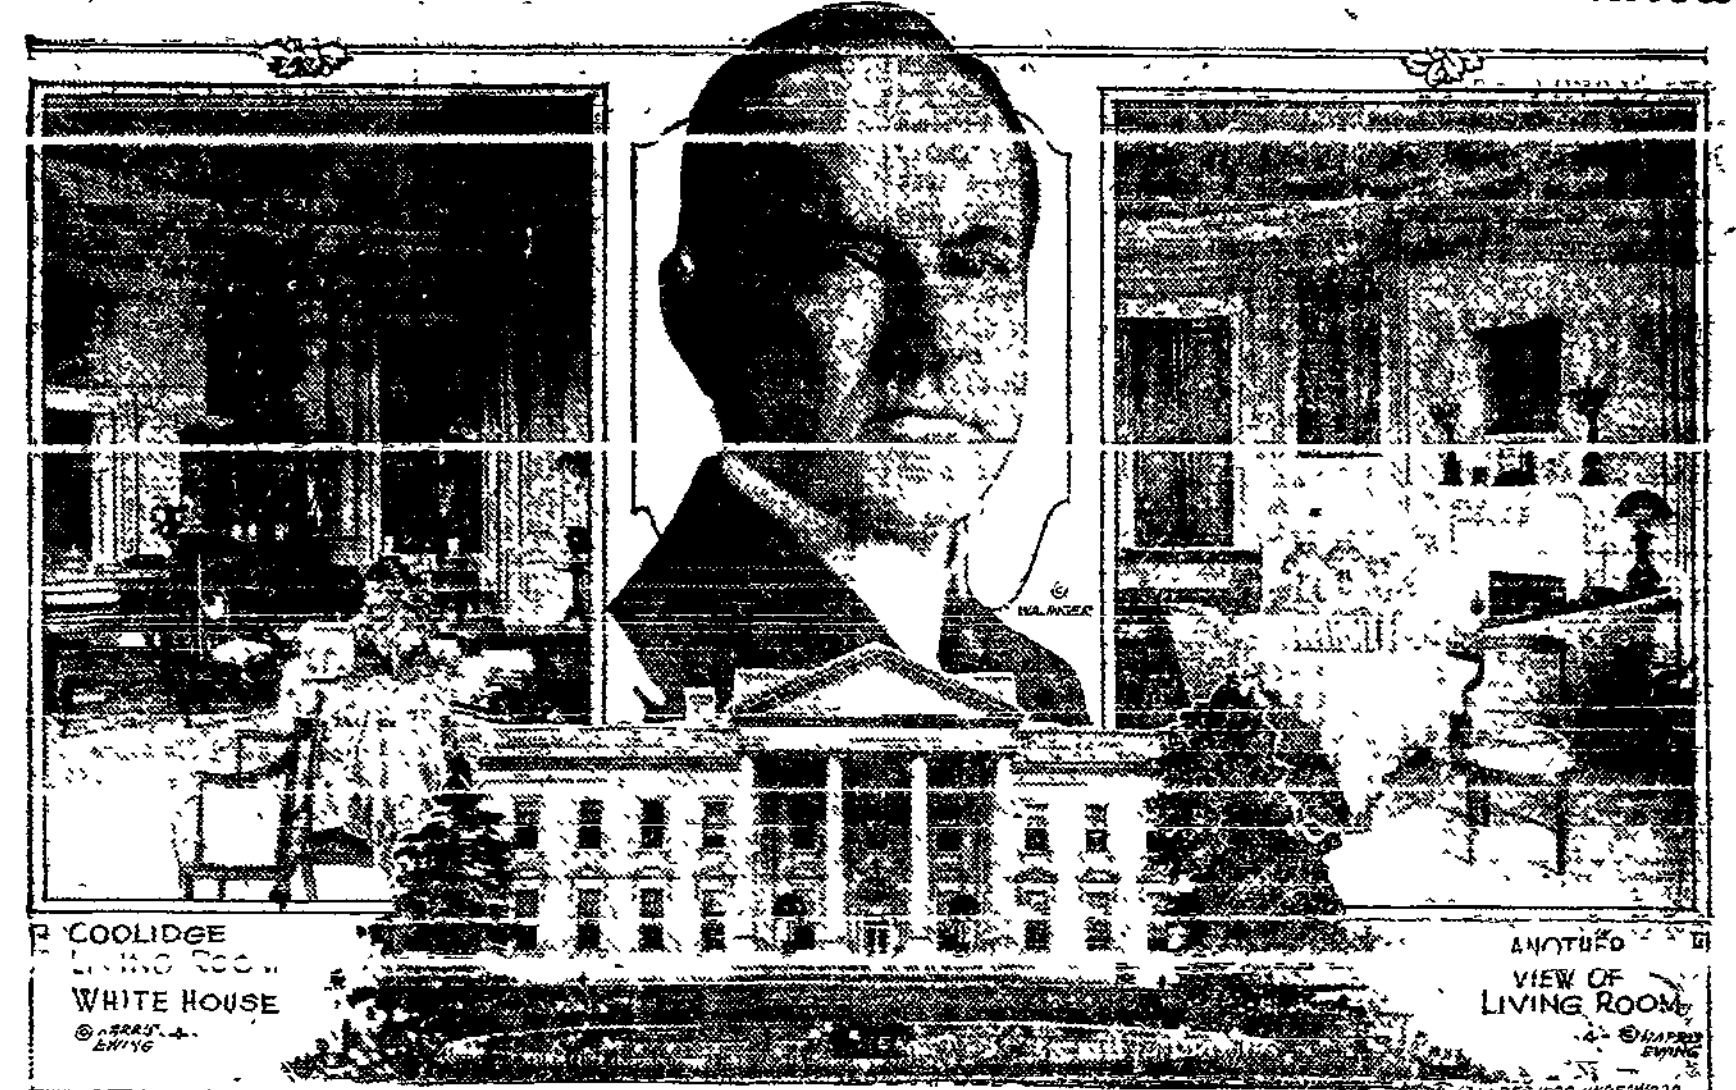

"A man selling pottery came to Salem and rapped at a certain lady's door," says the Boston Globe. "He was asked in. Just as he got inside the door he dropped one of the bowls, supposedly by mistake and it did not break. When in the kitchen he dropped another, and then remarked to the lady that his bowls were guaranteed not to break. She bought some, to be paid for when delivered. When they came she put them away to wait until some of her friends would appear and she would drop one for a surprise. A friend finally arrived. The lady took a pot from the shelf and dropped it accidentally on purpose. It shattered into a thousand pieces—quite unlike the rubber samples."

Basis of Civilization

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Man may be civilized in some degree without great progress in manufactures and with little commerce with his distant neighbors. But without the cultivation of the earth he is, in all countries, a savage. Until he gives up the chase and fixes himself in some place, and seeks a living from the earth, he is a roaming barbarian. When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of civilization.—Daniel Webster.

Coolidge Family Leads Quiet Simple Life In Those Historic Halls Where Lincoln Walked

by
MRS. ALVIN T. HERT,
Vice-Chairman, Republican National Committee

"The most beautiful house in America is the White House." This was the comment of a woman who recently paid her first visit to the house in which the Chief Executive of this country lives—and it was a real visit.

When the messenger boy brought her an invitation to dine informally with President and Mrs. Coolidge, there came to her mind the same picture which would come to any woman who had read stories of official life in Washington. The brilliant state dining room, glittering chandeliers, military aides in smart uniforms, the trappings of the White House, the Marine band playing in the distance.

But let her tell her own story.

Simplicity Everywhere

"Tremendously thrilled, I took the arm which President Coolidge offered, with the quick, angular movement so characteristic of the man. We entered the quiet, softly lighted dining room. The table was perfectly set with linen and crystal, set off with low bowls of late spring flowers, but it was simple and unassuming. A black-coated butler was in attendance, but a son of the house drew out his mother's chair.

"Six of us sat down together, four of the name of Coolidge. And instead of formal strains, floating in from the portico, the first sound to meet my ear was the quiet voice of the nation's Chief Executive: 'Mr. S., will you say grace?'

"The two Coolidge boys had just returned from school. Even then the face of Calvin, Jr., showed the pallor of his approaching illness, but I attributed it to the strain of the school examinations of which he spoke. In the eyes of the boys shone hope of good home cooking after months of absence. Recalling the chef in the White House, I felt a throb of pity for the expectant lads.

"But my sympathy was wasted. The main dish of the dinner was a thick, juicy beefsteak, perfectly broiled and entirely surrounded by French fried potatoes. And for dessert we had custard pie—none of your thin, French pastry pies, but one whose golden custard was nearly two inches thick and smooth as cream.

"All four of the Coolidges displayed a frank interest in this pie, not because they come from New England, but because the White House cook used the recipe supplied by 'Aurora,' housekeeper for Grandfather Coolidge on his Vermont farm.

"It is not yet as good as Aurora makes," explained Mrs. Coolidge, "but each time it is better. We have hopes."

"Then, with each member of the family contributing an anecdote or a scrap of description, I heard the story of Aurora who after years of service on the Coolidge farm had been persuaded by a widower-brother to join him in a distant town. He was a busy physician and his home needed a mistress.

"At the end of a year Aurora announced her desire to resign her job. On her arrival at the Plymouth farm, she offered this simple explanation:

"Automobiles tearing by all the while, tooting their horns. Telephones ringing every half hour or so. Made me feel rushed and tired."

"Home Folks"

"From Aurora, to vacation on the farm, and back to school. Amusing pictures, quickly drawn, of the closing hours at Mercesburg. A hundred boys in a mad scramble of sorting baggage and packing it. The younger boys plied his father with questions about Greek fraternities. I asked him if he thought this quite fair to a man who had been out of college so long. Without trace of disrespect he gave me to understand that his father never went stale!

"Listening to this family banter, I visualized thousands of American homes to which young people were returning from school, and I hoped that all of the boys and girls could meet such sympathetic understanding, such a simple, wholesome atmosphere as reigned here in the White House.

Dinner over, the President conducted us to the northern portico, from which we planned to start on our tour of the White House grounds, those seventeen spreading acres unmarred by artificiality. But a light rain was falling, so we remained under the protection of the lofty roof.

"Glancing up at the Grinliffe Gables carving above the doorway, I recalled talk of remodeling, of modernizing the White House and the idea assumed the proportions of a ridicule. I talked I might almost say, I thought aloud of the palaces I had seen in Europe, Windsor, Versailles, the Quirinal, those castles built by the Mad Prince. None of them could compare with the White House in its chaste colonial beauty and dignity, as a home for our President.

"President Coolidge listened gratefully. He is a good listener. He knows how to draw out his visitors. Then on a long pause he raised his head. Looked at a wide open window above the doorway of the home which his country had supplied for him, and spoke quietly—

"Where Lincoln Walked"

"It could be wrong to destroy that hall in which Lincoln walked in the darkest days of the Civil War," he said. "As he paced that hall he looked through this half inch window to the Potomac. I like to walk there now and think of him."

"His words carried me up the great flight of stairs and through the mist of years into that upper hall where Lincoln paced slowly back and forth—struggling with the problems which beset his day and his people.

"We re-entered the White House and passed out on the southern veranda which overlooks the Potomac and the Virginia hills. Over the iron balustrade, a mass of honeysuckle had flung itself, its pale yellow blossoms drenching the air with exquisite perfume. Just beyond a magnificent monument shone wanly through the mist. Faint lights afar suggested Virginia, Arlington, the resting place of our Unknown Soldier.

"We talked quietly, the two boys, their mother and I. The President sat apart in the shadows, motionless, silent, his eyes fixed on the dim outline of Virginia. Thus had Lincoln watched that shore in the perilous days of the Civil War.

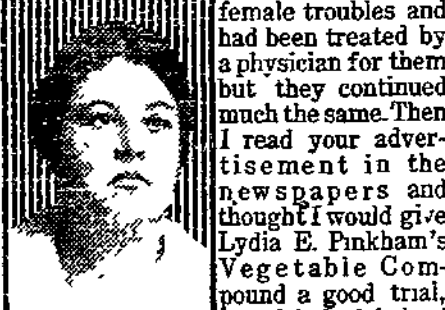

"The White House is America. Talk of a newer, a more elaborate building to take its place is desecrating," I said suddenly and warmly, to President Coolidge and then I added—

"We must preserve for the people for all time this place where Adams, Madison, Lincoln and the others have lived and solved problems that have made America the greatest nation on earth today."

I have taken 36 bottles of the medicine and am never without it in the house. My baby boy is three years old now and I sure am happy since I got relief from my troubles. Lightning Lore

"Caesar" Once Family Name

The name "Caesar" was the family name of the first five Roman emperors, originating in Sextus Julius Caesar, who was a praetor, 208 B. C. The family became extinct with Nero in 68 A. D., and the title "Caesar" became simply a title of dignity. Both Augustus Caesar, born September, 63 B. C., who died in August of the year 14 A. D., and Tiberius ruled during the life of Christ, Augustus was reigning at the time of the birth of Christ.

Causes of Earthquakes

What produces earthquakes is a problem not yet settled to the satisfaction of the scientist. Tremors of the earth may be caused by explosion of mines, falling in of caves, slipping of rock strata and many other movements of the earth, but these do not explain the great shocks satisfactorily. Earthquakes are linked with volcanic activity, but which of the two is cause and which effect is not known.

Patient Old Bird

The green heron, which is sometimes called the fly-up-the-creek, is about one and one-half feet long and is common throughout the United States and Canada. It feeds mostly on fish, frogs and other aquatic animals and may be seen, particularly in the morning and in the evening, standing patiently motionless in some shallow water, waiting till prey comes within reach.
